WANING.

The autumn days are waning, and the gold is on the lea;
The gold and crimson tint that paints with splendor bright and brief
The grand old oak. The copper-red is on the beeding beech,
The burnished nuts rustle ripe and fall above the school-boy's reach.

The swallows gather 'neath the eaves; the first dull cloudy day
Will bear them all, on eager wings to sunnier climes away;
So is it oft, with us, alas! Our brief bright summer ends,
Comes winter resolute and stern; away troop summer friends.

The last rose blushes on her stem, in beauty all alone,
Weeps summer gone, and sighs upon her solitary throne;
So is it with us all life's on't. What rank, or pomp, or gold,
If hairs grow grey, and we without some light of love grow old?

Pray God there be not one of us, whoever he may be,
Without some friend whom he may love, a true child upon his knee!
True love and friendship ever shine, with lustre all their own,
Since man was never made to live, and work, and die—alone!

NICKAJACK CAVE—A TENNESSEE WONDER.

One of the most remarkable curiosities in the West is an immense cave about twenty miles from Chattanooga. It is called Nickajack Cave, that name being a sort of romantic corruption of the original "Nigger Jack's Cave." A correspondent of a Cincinnati paper gives the following description of it:

The cave is probably the largest in the State, and to explore it for even but a short distance is enough to satisfy one that it is "grand, gloomy and peculiar." Its mouth is about one hundred feet wide, and near forty feet high. It is arched overhead with pure granite, which presents a pure surface some fifteen feet high. The first two hundred feet of the cave is a large room arched overhead, and a portion of it having a smooth floor of dirt. It is a very popular place for balls, picnics and Fourth of July assemblages, the temperature always being delightful.

Out from the mouth of the cave runs a large stream of water as clear as crystal. At the mouth the stream runs along one side; but further in the cave is contracted to the exact width of the stream. This occurs some two or three miles from the mouth, and thence onward the tourist has to go in a canoe, if he goes at all. Few care to go further, and the most daring has only been six miles. No man has ever found the end.

Tradition tells of a large number of interesting and horrible affairs connected with this cave. Dead men, and dead men's bones, have been found in its gloomy recesses. During the war, and after the fall of Nashville, Cheatham's command encamped on the bank of the river near the cave for a few days. Shortly afterwards the country was occupied by the Federal army, and a regiment of Indiana troops encamped at the same place. A few of them were one day exploring the cave, and when some two miles from the mouth they stumbled over the bones of three men. It was a Rebel lieutenant and two privates. They were locked in each other's arms, and it is supposed they had lost their lights and wandered around in the ink black darkness until exhausted, and then lay down to die. If I mistake not, those who found them belonged to the 72nd Indiana mounted Infantry.

About a year after this six or seven soldiers equipped themselves to explore the cave. They went in one morning and have never been heard or since. But their absence is now accounted for upon a hypothesis other than they were lost. At the time a vigorous search was made, but no traces found, and it was supposed they had become bewildered in the many labyrinths of the cavern, and never been able to find their way out. But now it is believed they remained in the cave until night, and then slipped out and deserted. Such a course would almost insure their escape, as their officers would believe them to be lost in the cave, and, of course, look nowhere else for them. At all events the mystery has never been cleared up, and people living about the cave aver that unless the soldiers had recourse to the stratagem to desert they were lost, and their bodies may be found in the cave.

A SPLENDID DESCRIPTION

On a certain occasion one Paul Denton, a Methodist preacher in Texas, advertised a barbecue with better liquor than is usually furnished. When the people assembled, a desperado in the crowd cried out, "Mr. Paul Denton, your reverence has lied. You promised not only a good barbecue, but better liquor. Where's the liquor?"

"There!" answered the missionary, in tones of thunder, and pointing his finger at the matchless double spring gushing up in two columns, with a sound like a shout of joy, from the bosom of the earth. "There!" he repeated, with a look as terrible as lightning, while his enemy actually trembled at his feet. "There is the liquor which God, the Eternal, brews for his children! Not in the simmering still, over fires choked with poisonous gases and surrounded with the stench and sickening odor of corruption does our Father in Heaven prepare the precious essence of life—pure water. But in the glade and grassy dell, where the red deer wander and the child loves to play, there God brews it; and down in the deepest valleys, where the fountains murmur and the rills sing; and high up in the mountain tops, where the granite glitters like gold in the sun, where the storm clouds brood and the summer storms crash; and out on the wide, wide sea, where the hurricane howls music and the big waves roll chords, sweeping the march of God—there he brews it—the beverage of life, health-giving water.—And everywhere it is a thing of beauty; gleaming in the dewdrop, singing in the summer rain, shining in the ice gems till they seem turned to living jewels; spreading a golden veil over the setting sun, or a white gauze around the midnight moon; sporting in the cataract, sleeping in the glacier, dancing in the hail shower, folding its bright curtains softly around the wintry world; and weaving the many colored iris, that seraphic zone of air, whose warp is the rain drops of earth, checkered over with celestial powers, the mystic band of refraction—that blessed life water; no poison bubbles on its brink, its foam brings no madness and murder; no blood stains its liquid glass; pale widows and starving children weep no burning tears in its depths! Speak out my friends, would you exchange it for the demon's drink, alcohol?"

A shout like the roar of a tempest answered "No!"

A youth was lamenting to his father the ordeal of popping the question. "Pooh!" said the patriarch, "how do you suppose I managed?" "You needn't talk," responded the young hopeful; "you married mother, and I've got to marry a strange girl."

DESIRABLE PROPERTY.

I WILL SELL OR EXCHANGE FOR GOOD City property one of the best Cotton and Grain Farms in Eastern North Carolina. The tract of land contains about twenty-two hundred acres, of which seven hundred acres are cleared, under fence and in good condition for cultivation. A large part of it is in cultivation this year. The soil is fertile, neighborhood good, labor cheap and plentiful. The dwelling house is large and commodious, with all necessary and convenient outhouses. The Stables, Barns, Houses for laborers &c. are good and numerous. This farm lies immediately on navigable water, and has passing through it good water power, where there is now a Grist and Saw Mill and Cotton Gin. The place is desirable for conducting large Mercantile operations, and is a beautiful location for a town or colony. A Steamer passes every day, and touches at the wharf two hundred yards in front of the dwelling. The surrounding country is rich and improving, and settled by intelligent, refined and prosperous people. Address

JUDICIAL CORRUPTION.

We have heretofore demonstrated to the satisfaction of the people, the utter corruption of the Executive and Legislative departments of the government. The corruption of the Judiciary was not so potent until recently. The drunkenness and incompetency of the Judiciary was what the people had mostly to lament.

Late developments show the Judiciary almost as corrupt as the Executive. Judicial corruption is always more dangerous to the liberty, rights and property, of a people than Executive corruption.

Holden and Kirk could not have ironed Wheedon and Gray, or hung Rogers, Patten and Murray, or incarcerated Wiley and Turner, without the concurrent aid of a drunken, prostituted judiciary. These men have patiently borne the vile outrages and indignities heaped upon them, until the hour of redress shall come.

Judges Dick and Settle have already informed us that our remedy against Holden is impeachment; they have been the first to call attention to the impeachment of the Governor; we have no doubt the Legislature will act upon the suggestion of the Judiciary in this matter. We expect, however, that the Grand Juries of Caswell and Alamance will act upon the Governor's conduct before the Legislature takes him in hand.

It may be the Governor will keep these two counties in a state of insurrection until his term of office expires, to prevent being indicted in them. If the people had elected a Radical Legislature the Governor could not have been punished for his high crimes against society, God and the Constitution. The Judges will not allow the Grand Juries to present, nor would the Legislature, if Radical, impeach. So the Governor, notwithstanding his high crimes, would have gone scott free. What a blessed result was the late election to the people of the State!

IMPEACHMENT.

Governor Holden is somewhat exercised upon the question of impeachment. With his intimate friends he is constantly talking and discussing its probabilities.

He tells his friend, the Editor of the Hillsboro Recorder, that he will not be impeached. We think it time enough to defend himself when he is put on trial.

If utter disregard of his Constitutional oath and duty be impeachable, then the Governor merits impeachment; whether he will receive his deserts or not is another question, and to be answered by the Legislature.

In looking hurriedly over the Constitution, we find the Governor has violated the following Sections of that instrument which he swore to support:

Section 11, reads as follows:

"In all criminal prosecutions, every man has the right to be informed of the accusation against him and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony."

Sec. 12. "No person shall be put to answer any criminal charge, except as hereinafter allowed, but by indictment, presentment or impeachment."

Sec. 13. No person shall be convicted of any crime but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful men in open Court."

Il Gen. Willie D. Jones and Col. Billy Henderson had given attention to the following sections of the Constitution, their friends would not have doubted of their promptly declining to set on the Holden, Kirk Court martial:

Section 15, of the Constitution declares, "General warrants, whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the act committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offence is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty and ought not to be granted."

Sec 17, says, "No person ought to be taken, imprisoned or deprived of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the law of the land.

How did the Governor get possession of Judge Kerr's cane, our pistol and Capt. Wm Johnson's horses?

Sec 24, says, "As standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up, and the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power."

This last section is worthy the attention of the judiciary. Holden's standing army was maintained and continued only by the prostitution of the judiciary.

It is rumored, says the Asheville Pioneer that Col. Woodfin has telegraphed that he has secured $1,400,000 of the money, for which the bonds of the Western North Carolina Railroad were sold for.

A man by the name of Joe Shelton who wantonly murdered Joel Holcombe of Madison county, in August 1865, was lodged in jail at Asheville on last Sunday night.

Shelton came back into the State with Kirk's gang and was arrested at Barnsville, as that horde were returning whence they came.

There is to be a grand Conservative jollification on the 20th of next month at Robesonville, Martin County.

WHOLESALE LYING.

A friend in one of our eastern counties, sends us the following paragraph, cut from "The Methodist," published in New York, and edited by Rev. George R. Crooks, D. D. This Doctor of Divinity belongs, no doubt, to a clique of New York clergy who have been engaged all the while for the last five or six years, through the publications of the Harpers and other periodicals, in misrepresenting and villifying the South, and in magnifying every incident they can seize upon that can be twisted to the disparagement of our people. Here is the paragraph alluded to:

"The Justices of the Supreme Court in the Ku Klux cases now on trial in North Carolina have unanimously decided that a member is responsible for the acts of any other "Klan" in any other county, though he had possessed no knowledge of the act done until after its commission. This decision has thrown great consternation among the Ku Klux and their sympathizers thereabouts, and will tend to the complete disruption of this iniquitous conspiracy throughout the State. The testimony discloses the perpetration of the most fiendish outrages on colored and white Republicans for mere political purposes, and that the order was 40,000 strong in this State over a year ago. Its strength now is not known."

If the pious penner of this paragraph had taken pains to inform himself of the facts in the case, he might have avoided the sin of thus slandering the people of North Carolina, and of making the columns of his newspaper the vehicle for spreading an infamous lie to the world. So far from the evidence showing that outrages have been committed on Republicans in this State "for mere political purposes," the utmost efforts of Holden's counsel and of the partizan Judges before whom the examination was had, failed to produce a single instance in which the victims suffered for their political opinions, but, on the contuary, every whipping, (only five or six) that was proved to have been committed, was for stealing, house breaking or insults to white females; and as to 40,000 Ku Klux in the State, that was the evidence of but one witness, and that one a man of notoriously bad character, so proved on the examination—a man who has the reputation in his neighborhood, as sworn to by a number of respectable gentlemen, of being a common thief and liar. His testimony was not supported by any other witness produced by the prosecution.

When Doctors of Divinity who conduct newspapers, become so imbued with party prejudice as to prostitute their talents and the columns of their papers to the slander and villification of their neighbors, and the propagation of mischievous falsehoods against them, it is time to call a prayer meeting and earnestly endeavor to get their moral constitutions reconstructed.

ALL EXPLAINED.

We were at the telegraph office until a late hour on Wednesday night, to give notice to the officers of the law of Kirk's movements. The wires, it seems, did work for others also, as we learn that Capt. Green, Master of transportation on the N. C. Railroad, and Deputy Marshal pro tem., brought Kirk down from Alamance to Raleigh, on the train yesterday morning.—Capt. Green says he was deputed by the Marshal, through the telegraph, to arrest Kirk, and he did it. He found him at Graham, in bed, after the last of his "lambs" had left on the train going West.

Mr. Green reports that Sheriff Blackwood, of Orange, boarded the train at Hillsboro', with a posse to arrest Kirk, on a bench warrant, but he showed him his authority and was allowed to pass on with his prisoner.

Kirk was arrested, as was Burgin, on a writ we sued out against him from the Federal Court, For want of bail Burgin has been confined in jail. Marshal Carrow allowed Kirk to go at large on the promise of the Governor that he would deliver him to the Marshal before he left the State. The Marshal, it seems, became uneasy, and deputised Green to arrest him as stated above.

We stick to it that, however mean and tyrannical Kirk may be, he is a better man and less deserving of punishment than are those who brought him to the State, or who approved of his coming, whether it be the Governor or the Judiciary or both. The process of the law may be slow but it is sure, and Kirk, Holden, Pearson, Dick and Settle will find this out ere long.

THREE USEFUL INVENTIONS.

Mr. J. H. Tarpley, of Greensboro', exhibited in our office yesterday, the models of three useful inventions recently patented by him, each of which will strike every one who examines it as a decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore in use.

The first was an instrument for fastening iron ties on cotton bales. By this instrument, which is very simple and well adapted to the use intended, the fastening of the bands can be effected as expeditiously and much more tightly than by hand, and prevents the swelling of the bale after the bands are put on. With the instrument the bands can be taken off the bales when desired, with little or no trouble and without breaking them.

The next was a plow clevy, by which the plow may be made to run deep or shallow by a very simple adjustment, without the necessity of moving the backband or changing any other part of the gear. It is superior to anything of the kind ever used in this country, and we have no doubt will be used wherever it is introduced, as it is about as cheap as the ordinary clevies now in use.

The other model was that of a hay and cotton press. This press possesses many advantages, and as a hay press especially, we believe nothing equal to it has ever been invented. The power operates horizontally, is very convenient for feeding, much more so than those which stand perpendicularly, and the arrangement for turning out and enclosing the bale is easy, simple and expeditious. The inventor states that it is equally well adapted to packing cotton.

All these inventions will be on exhibition at our State Fair, and we advise Mr. Tarpley to have them at the other Fairs in the State, as well as Fairs in other States. We feel confident they need only to be seen to be appreciated and generally adopted.

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR:—Grave and important questions will, doubtless, claim the attention of our State Legislature. Heavy, indeed, is the responsibility devolving upon that body. That it may prove itself adequate to the Herculean task before it, is the ardent desire of every true lover of the State of North Carolina, and friend of civil liberty. The questions are necessarily grave and important, because the era which gave them birth, is unquestionably the most momentous ever known in the political history of North Carolina. But, as important as these questions may be; calm and dispassionate as should be the consideration of them, yet, the legislative mind should not be so completely absorbed in them, as to overlook other matters of seemingly less importance, when the interest of the country demands that they should claim its early attention. Prominent among these, stands the Physician's relief bill.—We briefly called the attention of our last Legislature to the importance of this matter. Among other things, we stated that the Legislature, by refusing to grant a lien in favor of Physicians, while it had generously, yet, we think, needlessly extended the utmost security to Mechanics and Undertakers, inflicted a serious injury upon a time-honored profession, and but too clearly showed an utter inappreciation of the services of this distinguished class of our citizens. We have never been able to see the necessity for making legislative specialities of these classes. If we admit (and I do) that it is not right for the Homestead law to intervene between the Mechanic and his hard earned money, we must also admit that it is equally unjust that this or any other law should prevent the farmer, the merchant, or the lawyer from collecting his just debts contracted since the enactment of this law. One is not necessarily any more a credit business, than the other. Those engaged in these vocations can alike credit or refuse to credit. There is nothing associated with them or any one of them, that renders a choice between indiscriminate crediting on the one hand, and entire abandonment of their vocation on the other, necessary. The attorney at law knows as well what his case is worth, when he has heard the particulars from his client, as when he has argued it to the Court and jury; consequently he can, and in all doubtful cases does exact his fee in advance. What is true of the lawyer is equally true of the farmer and merchant; and what is true regarding these classes, is none the less true with respect to the mechanic and undertaker, for whose special benefit the General Assembly has seen proper to legislate. The mechanic can, with as much certainty determine what it will be worth to build a house, when the dimensions of the building have been given him by his employer, as the lawyer can his fee when he has arrived at the merits of his case, from particulars given him by his client.

Not so with the physician. The very nature of the practice of medicine precludes the possibility of exacting his fees in advance. When called to see a patient, even were the surrounding favorable for arranging his fee; were there no distress and weeping friends around the couch of afflicted and suffering humanity, watching with intensest anxiety the once placid countenance and tranquil features of the helpless sufferer, now distorted by pain, and regarding the Physician's greatest dispatch in administering the coveted anodyne as intolerable slowness; did not the missionary of health have these circumstances to encounter, yet his inability at all times to determine how long his patient may be sick and consequently how long his services may be required, precludes the possibility of securing his fee. Thus it will be seen, that the practice of medicine, unlike the pursuits to which we have referred, is necessarily a credit practice, and the Physician under the Homestead law is reduced to the dire extremity of crediting indiscriminately, with no assurance of ever receiving more than a pittance for his services, or abandoning entirely his profession. If the condition of the country ever were such as to require the enactment of the Homestead law, and if this law so operated against the interest of Mechanics and Undertakers (whom we think, we have clearly shown are not compelled to do a credit business) as to require special legislation in their behalf, none, we think, can deny that the interest of the country, in the name of afflicted and suffering humanity, imperatively demands similar legislation in favor of the Physician. A bill to this effect, was pending in the House during the last session of our last Legislature. Only two sickly efforts were made by that body to pass the bill, notwithstanding several petitions were sent up from various portions of the State urging this matter upon them.—From these weakly attempts, it was but too apparent to all that the bill did not have a single strong advocate.

The reason, we think, is obvious. That seven dollars per day, they voted themselves, at a time when our people were very poor and heavily oppressed by taxation, doubtless exerted its influence and determined a large proportion of the members to become candidates for re election. The advocacy and passage of a bill to relieve physicians could not advance their individual interest, and might be possibly an unpopular measure with a majority of their constituents. It such was the consideration by which the House was influenced, we tell the members of this Legislature, they need affect themselves with no such misapprehensions. The relief of physicians, we believe, is now generally regarded as a public necessity growing out of the existing Homestead Law. One member opposed the Physician's bill when it came before the House, on the exclusive ground, that a certain physician living within a distance of seventy-five yards of his house, visited a sick member of his family twelve or thirteen times and charged him $75.

Now, Mr. Editor, we do hope, should this bill come before the House again, that no member will oppose it from such an extremely narrow and contracted consideration as this. Had this member taken a less contracted view of the subject, even were he justified in taking an isolated case and making a general application of it to the Profession, he might have readily seen that the only reason he assigned for his opposition to the bill, was in reality a good argument in its favor. A large proportion of this physician's practice was, doubtless, among those whose property was exempt from execution by reason of the homestead. Had there been a law by which he could have collected a reasonable fee from each patient of this class, he could and doubtless would have charged this member a much less fee, and maintained his family fully as well. While our Legislator was receiving his seven dollars per day, paid out of the scanty pockets of a heavily oppressed people, our poor "pill man," doubtless, did not receive half as much per week. In conclusion, we ask the General Assembly to secure the Physician as early after it convenes as practicable; but should it prove as unmindful of his and the people's interest as did our last Legislature, we call upon the Medical Profession all over the State in the favorite language of a certain editor to "stick a pin there" and immediately take steps to secure itself by calling a general convention. W. C. G.

The colored lecturer named Jacob Chavis, hailing from Charlotte C. H., Va., turns out to be a swindler. Look out for him.

SYMPATHY.

When the news of the Conservative victory in North Carolina reached Calvert, Texas, where many North Calinians reside, a meeting was called to express their sympathy and congratulations, a report of which we have receive and give below:

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

In response to a call of many citizens, a large and enthusiastic assemblage met at Imperial Hall on Friday evening last, to express congratulations upon the late political victory in North Carolina. On motion, Col. Fred. Hill occupied the chair and Wyndham Kemp was appointed Secretary. At 9 o'clock the meeting was called to order. Col. Hill explained the object of the meeting as congratulatory to North Carolinas in her victory over Radicalism. Col. Frank Neale, E. Conn, Esq., Mr. H. Burrman and D. W. Lewis, Esq., responsive to calls made, delivered able and eloquent addresses. Col. Malcom J. McDuffie, of North Carolina, was loudly called for by numerous friends, but being absent, from indisposition, did not respond. The Colonel's inability to attend was regretted by all. Numerous North Carolinians participated in the meeting; among them were Maj. Washington Harkey, Capt. Vickers and many others.

Hon. J. M. Thurmond on being solicited to speak, remarked that his official position prevented his mingling in matters of politics, and that while honestly he differed in opinion from what was known as the Democratic party, he was ever for what he conscientiously believed the right.

On motion a committee was appointed to frame resolutions, expressive of the sentiment of the meeting. The following resolutions were submitted and adopted:

Resolved, That whereas we, a portion of the people of Texas, have heard, with unfeigned pleasure, of the recent anti radical victory in North Carolina, That we hail with delight the glad tidings from "the old North State," and as in her dark hour of political tribulation, she has had our deepest sympathy, we do now rejoice with her in her success.

Resolved, That copies of the proceedings of this meeting be furnished the Calvert Enterprise and Raleigh SENTINEL.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

FRED. A. HILL, Chairman.

WYNDHAM KEMP, Secretary.

EXECUTION OF A PRUSSIAN SPY IN PARIS.

Charles Barth, a lieutenant in the Prussian army, convicted in Paris, by a court-martial, of being a spy, was shot on the 27th ult. A Paris letter says:

Six o'clock A. M. precisely was the hour fixed for the shooting. The prisoner had yet fifteen minutes to live. He was led into an angle of the court-yard, where the troop horses are usualy shod, and which forms a quiet corner to itself. Here he was placed close to the wall, and in front of a squad of twelve men of the Forty second regiment of the line, namely, two sergeants, four corporals and a half-dozen privates. The firing party stood in two ranks. As the prisoner was approached by the turnkeys of the military prison, whose duty it was to tie his hands behind his back, he shrunk back and said, "No! I wish to die like a soldier." But on representations being made to him that there was no exception to the rule, he yielded. His eyes were then bandaged, when he expressed a wish to be allowed to give the word "fire." Adjt. Codout, who had acted as registrar to the court martial, came forward and read the sentence amid an impressive silence. At a pause at one of the paragraphs in the document the prisoner, fancying the reading had been finished cried, "Vive, coquins, et ne me manquez pas." "Fire, you rascals, and mind you don't miss!" But the squad did not stir; it was waiting another signal.

As the last syllable died away on the adjutant's lips the officer commanding the firing party drew his sword, the soldiers raised their chassepots to their shoulders and took aim, the sword was lowered, and a dozen shots went off like one, with a sudden, startling detonation. Before the report of the discharge had smitten the straining ears of those who looked on, the prisoner fell forward with an inclination to his right side. Over his left breast, in the region of the heart, his shirt was torn into a jagged hole, where the bullets had entered. As he lay motionless on the ground one of the sergeants in the rear of the firing party advanced through the little cloud of smoke and discharged his piece into the dead man's brain. Dead man, I say, for Barth must have died before he reached the ground in his fall. The troops were marched past the body, which was then lifted, limp and warm and put, dressed as it was, into a coffin, and trotted off to the Cemetery of Mont Parnasse, where it was dropped into a grave which had been opened to receive it, and hastily hidden from view.

CUBA'S ISLAND.—Many years ago the navigators along the white beached coast of Eastern Virginia were surprised one September morning, following upon a calm smoky day such as precedes the earthquake season in California, by the appearance of a rakish looking island off the county of Northampton, where no island should be—long and low, and with an outerguard of dangerous reef. That the island was thrown up by some great convulsion of nature, and not formed by tidal deposits of sand, would appear from the fact that the long stretch of reef on the seaward side of the island never shows a sand deposit, and that the water immediately beyond reaches the depth of forty fathoms.

The long, low, remarkable island, shot up from a depth of forty fathoms by some internal disturbance in nature's economy, was soon found to have some remarkable accompaniments. The finny tribe sought its waters in countless shoals; the birds of the air hankered after it, swarmed about it, and dropped their eggs on its white sands without heed, so that they got them landed on Cobb's Island. Only it was not then known as Cobb's Island, but in the process of time the Cobbs bought it—very cheaply the legend goes—carried soil from the mainland to start some vegetation on its glistening sand, and then as the fame of Cobb's Island expanded, and visitors increased, they extended their accommodations, until now it threatens to become a fashionable place.—Washington Star.

"I feel," moaned a dying cobbler, "that I wax weaker every day, and that I am gradually approaching my end—only a few more stitches, and awl will be over. In Heaven there is rest for the sole—earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heel." Having said awl he wished, he calmly breathed his last.

A man telling about a wonderful parrot hanging in a cage from the window of a house which he had often passed, said:—"It cries 'stop thief!' so natural, that every time I hear it, I always stop."

An artesian well in St. Louis is three quarters of a mile deep, and three years and five months (night and day) were consumed in boring it.

The grist mill of Henry D. Roberson, at Flat Swamp, in Martin county, was totally destroyed by fire last week.

Every man competing for my offer in addition to the $15 to deposit $5, with Mr. Turner, Editor SENTINEL, five days previous to the opening of the Fair, to be surrendered by him to the one who excels.

THE MOST VIGOROUS AND PROGRESSIVE COMPANY IN THE WORLD.

The Equitable

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES

120 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

BURROUGHS & SPRINGS, GENERAL AGENTS,

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

TWENTY-ONE REASONS FOR PREFERRING THIS COMPANY TO ALL OTHERS.

1. Its cash assets are upwards of $13,000,000.00 and constantly increasing.
2. None of this is made up of promissory notes as in many Companies.
3. Its cash income per annum is over $6,500,000.00 and steadily growing larger.
4. None of this is composed of the notes-of-hand of policy-holders, as the case in many companies.
5. It has paid to widows and orphans, and other claimants under policies on deceased members, about $4,000,000.
6. Such payments are made in cash, and not partly in cancelled notes, as is the case in many companies.
7. No deductions are made from the face of a policy for premium notes when it becomes a claim, as is the case in all Note Companies.
8. The sum of $1,500,000, and upwards, in cash divided among policy-holders, (this included the dividend for the present year) as profits of the business.
9. All the profits of the business are annually divided among the assured. Equitably, instead of being wholly or partially distributed among the stockholders, as is the case in all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.
10. Dividends are invariably available as cash in payment of premiums.
11. The dividends are made from the start, and not postponed until after the lapse of several years, as in many Companies.
12. The Equitable has dealt equitably with its policy-holders.
13. The Equitable has made more progress since its organization than any other Life Company in the world.
14. Its risks have been so carefully selected and its dealing so equitable, that it has never been obliged to contest the payment of a claim at law.
15. Its modes of applying dividends are more numerous and more advantageous than those of any other company in the world
16. It issues all the popular styles of policy, including "Ten Year Non-Forfeiting" and "Endowment policies."
17. The amount of new business during the year ending "December, 1 1869, was $51,021,913.
18. Its policies average larger in amount than those of any other company, showing that capitalists select the Equitable for purposes of investment.
19. The profits of the business are apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution Plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division, and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly unjust to a large proportion of the policy-holders.
20. It is as liberal in the conduct of its business as is consistent with safety to the assured, but does not sacrifice proper caution to an ambition to increase the nominal amount of its business as the case with many new companies.
21. It is the favorite company in the United States, as is shown by its new business for last year, being nearly $13,000,000 greater than any other company.

Mayor's Court.—His Honor, Mayor Harrison, disposed of the following cases yesterday morning:

Daniel Lassiter, charged with lying drunk on the streets. Daniel, after being properly cautioned in regard to an excessive indulgence in alcoholic fluids, was allowed to swell the city Treasury by the contribution of $2 and allowed to depart.

Daniel Williams, an old man, charged also with lying drunk on the street. His Honor pitying the old man, discharged him on the promise of sinning no more in this respect.

P. C. Hines, a soldier belonging to Co. K, 2nd U. S. Artillery, charged with being drunk and taking up his quarters in the porch of Mr. Lawrence's house, was next interviewed, and upon the payment of a $2 fine, together with various and sundry promises of a virtuous and sober life in the future, was allowed to return to his proper quarters.

I. O. O. F.—There will be a degree meeting of Manteo Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at their Hall, on this, (Friday) evening, at the usual hour.

Just So.—Let us pick up an exchange from where we will, says the Newbern Times, and we find evidences in their columns that a spirit of lawlessness is running riot over the country.

And such will always be the case while the management of public affairs is in such hands as it has been, especially in this State, for the last two years.

We have received a catalogue of the "Norwood School," located in Nelson County, Va., for the scholastic year 1869-'70, which represents the school as in a very flourishing condition. The object of the school is to prepare youths for the University of Virginia, and for the active duties of life.

We are indebted to Hon. A. G. Thurman, of Ohio, for copies of his speech in the U. S. Senate, on the bill to amend the naturalization laws, and for other public documents.

Butter.—We complained, locally, a day or two ago, of the scarcity and high price of butter in our market. Yesterday morning we found the scarcity remedied to some extent, but not much done toward lowering the price. The cows in the surrounding country seem to have "dried up," so that there is very little fresh country butter to be had. Indeed we couldn't get any, but we found some exceedingly nice Orange county (N. Y.) butter at the first stall on the right hand of the Market house, kept by Mr. West, who says he intends to keep that kind on hand constantly.

How is It?—Nobody has yet explained what those "sundry other accounts" were for, that were allowed at the last meeting of the Board of City Commissioners, amounting to over fifteen hundred dollars. The people have waited and we have waited, but there is no response. The tax collector is threatening to sell people's property for the high taxes they are assessed, and it is but reasonable that they should know where the money goes. The Board allowed the salary accounts; the night police accounts; the street work accounts, all amounting to a little over eighteen hundred dollars, and then lumped in these "sundry other accounts," of fifteen hundred dollars, and won't tell what it is for.

The "organ" lived long enough after we made the inquiry to have given the desired information, but "it died and made no sign," and the people are yet in the dark about these "contingencies." Fifteen hundred dollars for "sundry other accounts," after paying all the leading city charges!—What is it for? Will any one answer?

Enterprising.—We have not been in the habit of comparing of telegraphic irregularities, although we have frequently felt we had just grounds for doing so. The idea in taking telegraphic dispatches is, that we get news by them earlier than by mail, and if this idea is not carried out the whole thing is a humbug and a cheat. We are led to these remarks, by seeing in the Richmond Whig, of Wednesday morning 21st inst., a notice of the erection of a light house at Wolf Trap Shoals, Chesapeake Bay, which paper we received by mail at 5 o'clock, P. M., of the same day, and on Wednesday night 10 o'clock, (five hours later,) received the same important piece of information by telegraph! Were this the only instance of the sort that has happened, we should let it pass, but such instances have occurred frequently before, and we therefore allude to it in hope of provoking the Associated Press Agents to a little more promptitude, or at least to the leaving out such items as may have become stale from age.

Taken Up.—On Wednesday afternoon, a horse running at large through the streets belonging to Messrs. Saunders and Manie, was taken up and lodged in the Livery Stable, where he was claimed by the owners.

Copperheads Musquitoes.—Musquetoes can't bear the scent of coffee. This fact is natural history has been accidentally discovered and tested sufficiently to prove its truth. All you have to do, therefore, in case you are annoyed by these winged pests and disturbers of your nocturnal slumbers, is to have a sufficient fire kindled in your bed room to toast the coffee for the family, let the aroma of the coffee fill the room and you drive every little humming rascal from the apartment. We suppose a few berries burned in the room awhile before bed time would have the same effect.

Fined.—James Jones and Sam Cross the two colored men who amused themselves by indulging in a small sized fight a day or two ago, appeared before His Honor, Thursday afternoon and were fined $5 each and costs.

Dancing.—Rescue Steam Fire Engine Co. No 1, and Mechanics Fire Co. No. 2, were out on the streets last evening drilling. By their prompt movements and expertness in hauling their engines, we were led to form a favorable opinion of their efficiency.

Didn't Go.—For some reason unknown to us, the colored excursion to Charlotte which was advertised to leave this city at 11 o'clock A. M. yesterday, did not get off. The whys and wherefores of this failure, we have not learned.

New river oysters are selling at $2 per bushel in Wilmington.

Ben Goodman, the recently arrested Radical Postmaster, at Williamston, confesses to have stolen $300, which he avers was spent in electioneering.

The Fayetteville Eagle says that the Naval Stores business in that section this year, amounts to only about 60 per cent. of that done in 1869.

The report of the wreck of the Steamer "Cape Fear," turns out to be false.

The colored Base Ballists of Wilmington intend giving a grand levee at the City Hall, on the 15th of next month.

Monday, the 26th inst., in the first day of the Jewish year 5631.

Wilmington has night schools in successful operation.

Mr. W. P. Blair of Asheville, lost three fine horses, Arabian extraction, in one week. It is supposed that they were poisoned.

At Murphy, Cherokee county, on the 10th inst., a shooting affray occurred between Col. Jno. R. Island and C. C. Vest, which resulted in Col. R. land being shot through the right breast. The wound is not considered mortal.

Ex President Andrew Johnson spoke at Gallatin on Saturday night to a large audience. He briefly reviewed his public career since the commencement of the war, maintained his consistency and claimed that he had voted uniformly for the good of the whole country. He referred to the principles on which the Federal government was organized, and declared that they had been subverted since the war. He said he had always been a democrat; he was elected Vice President as a Union democrat, and he had not and would not swerve from the true faith. He condemned the recent State convention for ignorance. He then read a resolution adopted by the State convention favoring a resolution of the Southern States to their rights as the sovereign States of the American union, and said it was secession and revolution in disguise and admonished the people against repeating the errors of the past civil strife. He recommended a close alliance with the national democracy and a choice of Governor, members of Congress and the legislature free from suspicion of secession. He condemned the State Convention for not disclaiming secession and suggested the holding of a primary meeting to exhibit the tone of the State of Tennessee on that subject. He closed with an appeal for prudence and discretion to keep off reconstruction and military rule.—N. Y. Herald.

Half Alive.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain, but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensuous pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow beings.

In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and terpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a full and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterward into a more pitiable condition than ever, (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant were resorted to,) but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question, founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century, is easily give. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but take the system up by recuperating the fountain-head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Persevere until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve, and brain, flows through the channels of circulation instead of the watery pabulum with which they have heretofore been imperfect ly nourished.

Thursday Evening Dispatches.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, Sept. 22.—There is great excitement about the appointment of a new Minister to St. James. Ben. Wade, of Ohio, is most prominent at this moment.

FOREIGN.

London, Sept. 22.—The Prussian King reports to the Queen that the investment of Paris is now complete. The French advance on the north side of Paris was repulsed with the loss of seven guns and twenty-five hundred prisoners.

Prussian defeats are obscurely reported at Thais and Mons.

The Private Secretary of Etienne Arago, formerly Mayor of Paris, has been arrested as a spy.

The Standard of this morning says that peace negotiations are progressing hopefully at Meaux. The general principles have already been arranged by Bismarck and Favre. The details are now under consideration.

Another London journal says that the only point dismissed thus far is "who is actually on the French side."

The Bank statement is very favorable. The accumulation of bullion for the past six days is greater than any in the same time, within two years. Communication between London and Paris is reopened.

Dispatches from Berlin state that a Constitution is preparing for the security of German unity.

Herr Delbruick is preparing the formation for proclaiming Frederick, Emperor of Germany.

Florence, Sept. 22.—A contingent of each Division of the Italian army occupied Rome. The remainder camped out side of the walls. The Papal troops laid down their arms and defiled before the Italian soldiers, who cheered lustily for Victor Emanuel. The Papal Legions have gone to Civita Vecchia, to await arrangements to be made to transport them to their respective homes.

The Italian loss before the walls was trifling. The diplomatic corps at the Vatican announces entire satisfaction with the precaution to preserve order. The people of all Italy are enthusiasth over Italian Unity. In large cities fire works and illuminations attest the general day.

Resolutions were adopted affirming that Congress and President Grant, have redeemed their promises to the people, as the protection of the public debt and the general prosperity shows; that the true Republicans of Virginia have affiliated with the Democrats; and that there can be only two parties, the Democrats and Republicans, in the State; expressing sympathy for the people abroad struggling for liberty; that the acts of the Legislature have shown that the fruits of the New State Constitution cannot be real nor without Republican ascendancy; asking Congress to give effect to the homestead exemption of the Virginia Constitution by amending the Bankrupt law; and earnes ly asking Congress to pay all loyal Southern men for property taken during, and services rendered prior to the war. A pl n for the Congressional campaign was adopted. Among the delegates were Congressmen Porter and Platt, ex-Gov. Wells and Judge Alex. Rives.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Sept. 22.—Dunham & Thayer, publishers of the Times, in this city, have been sued on of the Associated Press. The matter complained of consists in a series of articles which the Plaintiff avers reflected on his personal integrity in the administration of the affairs of the Associated Press. Simpson's friends claim that these articles were unprovoked and so clearly malicious as to leave him no other recourse than to force the assailants to face their own charges in Court. The real estate of the Defendants, to the amount of $40,000, has been attached to abide the result of the suit.

TENNESSEE.

Memphis, Sept. 22.—The Steamer Edinburgh from Cincinnati for New Orleans was snagged at Island No. 40. The passengers were saved.

FOREIGN.

London, Sept. 22.—The German official Gazette and a paper published at Hagnau, published in the Rhine Alsace, refers in its first number to the proposed incorporation of Alsace and Lorraine into Germany, and says that Alsace and Lorraine are already Teutonic in policy, manners, language and ideas, and will only be too happy to separate from infidel socialism.

Specie in the Bank of England has increased £422,000. It is generally believed here that the Prussians are negotiating with France solely for the sake of delay, so as to secure the possession of Paris. During the investment of the city, the following important engagements have occurred: On Saturday the 17th inst. Prussian brigade routed several battalions of the French in the forest of Brevannes forest. The next day a sharp skirmish occurred near Versailles. On Monday the French were driven back from their intrenchments at Bourg, losing 7 guns. Near Versailles a body of two thousand Mobiles captured a number of Prussians, whose prisoners had been a elled by the Huguenots.

The new iron clad turret ship "Hotspur," has just come out a trial trip at Davenport. The interest felt in her success has steadily grown since the loss of the "Captain." The result is pronounced entirely satisfactory. The "Hotspur" carried a 25 ton gun, which was handled readily.

Tours, Sept. 22.—There is a strong movement on the part of the Germans of France favoring Neutral defence. The Railway and Postal service is still extremely irregular.

Nothing definite from Paris to-day. There is great activity among the troops here. Many are leaving here hastily. Hundreds arrived from Blois, who left from fear that the Prussians would soon enter.

The Prussians have cut the Orleans Rail Road and now occupy several points along the line. The cars run only to Blois. The Prussians menaces Orleans. Arab troops have been sent back from Marseilles, to suppress a general revolt in Algeria.

The bronze statuary in Paris has been melted to make cannon.

Munchausen, Sept. 22.—The seige of Strasburg is vigorously pushed. Lanuttle No. 50 was captured to day by the Prussians.

Brussels, Sept. 22.—A British diplomat arrived here yesterday en route for Prussian headquarters on an important peace mission.

Liverpool, Sept 22.—Several cargoes of cotton and other goods have recently arrived here from Havre, shipped to prevent their falling into the hands of the Prussians.

A SPIRITUALISTIC MYSTERY—A LADY FOLLOWED FOR TEN YEARS BY THE SPIRIT OF A LITTLE GIRL.

[From the Leavenworth (Ind.) Independent, August 24.]

Another of those inexplicable mysteries which so far have defied the ingenuity of man to solve has just come to light in the former county seat of Crawford county, Fredonia.

For about ten years past a lady residing in the place mentioned above has had for a companion a spirit child five or six years old, which attends her wherever she goes and has been seen by nearly every resident of Fredonia at one time or another following close in the wake of the lady in question. It has become a common expression when the little form is seen following the one whom she seems destined to guard through life that "There goes B's little girl." The lady who is constantly followed by this little phantom has become accustomed to its presence and exhibits no alarm or uneasiness when it is observed near her. Frequent attempts have been made to capture the mysterious little visitor, but when the hands would seem to be about coming in contact with the form it would suddenly melt away and become invisible.

Only once has it been seen in any other place than following the lady alluded to, and that was a short time after the close of the war. A gentleman had just returned home from the army, and with his wife and child were occupying a room in the house of the haunted lady. They had retired and lighted a lamp, and he was in conversation with his wife, when he heard the pit-a-pat of a child's feet on the floor near the bed. Looking in the direction of the sound he observed a little girl walking towards the stairway. Naturally supposing that it was his own child that had got out of bed some way, he sprang up and followed the form down the stairs, at the same time calling it to return.

His wife, noticing his movements, asked him what he was doing. He replied that their child was out of bed and going down stairs and he was trying to catch it and bring it back. The wife responded that the child was still in bed, which the husband found true on returning to the bed.—He told his wife that he certainly saw a child going down the steps. She replied that it must have been B——'s little girl, and then told him the circumstances concerning the mysterious visitor. A bright light was burning in the room at the time, and as both husband and wife were awake and talking when the child made its appearance, there can be no doubt but that the gentleman saw the apparition, at least he is willing to make oath to this effect.

BETTING EXTRAORDINARY.—The New York Star, in an article on betting, relates the following:

A distinguished physician was called to attend an inveterate better, who was attacked with a sudden and dangerous illness.—After a careful diagnosis the doctor assured him that his condition was extremely critical, and his chances of recovery very doubtful. Thereat the patient rallied somewhat, and the following colloquy ensued:

"I'll bet you a hundred dollars, Doctor, that I don't die."

"My dear sir, you may not; but I think it proper to advise you that, in my opinion, you will."

"Well, Doctor, if I die will I go to heaven?"

"I hope so, sir."

"Will I be an angel?"

"Yes sir."

"Will I have wings?"

"I presume so, sir."

"Well, now, Doctor, when you die will you go to heaven and be an angel?"

"I trust so, sir."

"And will you have wings, too?"

"Yes, I suppose I will."

"Well, then, Doctor, I'll bet you a hundred dollars I will out fly you."
